In-kind donations

We accept any disability related item specific to children or parenting children with disabilities. Please see our WishList for a specific list of titles.

- Books (hard or soft covers). Our first preference is a new book. If used then must be in excellent condition, clean, no marks, water damage, or mold and not older than 2002.
- Videotapes/DVDs — New, or almost-new in original boxes/cases.
- Audio Books — Tape or CD New, or almost-new in original boxes/cases.
- Disability magazine subscriptions especially in Spanish and Chinese languages
- We have a special need for Spanish and Chinese language disability materials (2002 or newer)

Gift Certificate donations

We appreciate gift certificates from stores and publishers:

- Amazon.com
- Child Development Media (CDM) (www.childdevelopmentmedia.com)
- Brookes Publishing (www.brookespublishing.com)
- Academic Therapy Publishing (www.academictherapy.com)
- Jessica Kingsley Publishers (www.jkp.com)
- Special Needs Project (www.specialneeds.com)

Momentary donations

We graciously accept cash, check or credit card donations to the Joan Cassel Memorial library. Please mail or go to our website at www.supportforfamilies.org and select How Can I help. Please be sure to highlight in the special directions section “for the Joan Cassel Memorial Library” in order for us to get the gift.

Acceptance of donated items is subject to the discretion of the Information and Resource Manager in conformity with library selection standards. Gift materials not added to the collection are not returned to the donor. Unused gifts may be offered to other disability libraries for public sale, discarded, or disposed of in some other way.

Collections of materials may not necessarily be kept together as a group, and the SFCD Joan Cassel Memorial Library (JCML) may not be able to accept gifts with this requirement.

The Support for Families JCM Library cannot be responsible for the appraisal of gifts for income tax or any other purpose. The Support for Families Development department will provide a receipt describing number and type of donated material.
